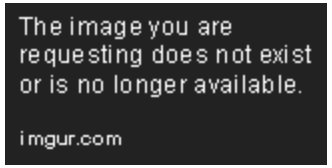
Solar Suitability Dashboard



Overview

The Solar Suitability Dashboard is an interactive web application that visualizes solar suitability across various regions. It provides stakeholders with a powerful tool to analyze multiple factors affecting solar potential and make data-driven decisions for solar implementation strategies.

This dashboard was developed for the International Water Management Institute (IWMI) to support sustainable energy and water management initiatives.

Key Features